

Develop your collaboration skills with Clarkson College

Learn from a leader in interprofessional education

Clarkson College Interprofessional Education (IPE) is a self-paced, online course that helps professionals enhance their skills in the areas of communication, teamwork, roles and responsibilities, values, and ethics. The course is specifically designed to encourage collaboration between different professions, with insight into both health care and community-based organizations integrated throughout the online modules.

Managers and team members can complete the course together to experience the benefits of interprofessional education and collaboration.

- Increased job satisfaction
- Improved client and patient outcomes
- Shared foundation for excellence

Timeline

Participants have until the end of the current calendar year to complete all course activities.

- Modules 1–4 include brief lectures, videos and activities
- Module 5 includes IPE in Practice. Participants will complete one pre-approved IPE activity along with a self-reflection.

Cost

$99 (certificate and up to 9 continuing education contact hours for select professions issued upon completion)
